Celeste Rodríguez Louro
The University of Western Australia

Join the 2025 ISLE Outreach Award winner Associate Professor Celeste Rodríguez Louro as she shares highlights of her outreach in Linguistics, including 76 million views of online content. She will explore how research can drive social change, from challenging deficit views of minoritised varieties to informing inclusive AI and healthcare communication. Drawing on media, open-access writing, and major partnerships (e.g., Google, Heart Foundation), Celeste shows how Linguistics can connect with the communities it serves. This ISLE forum will explore questions such as:

- How can Linguistics outreach disrupt language myths and promote inclusion?
- What makes media culturally safe for First Nations communities?
- What role does Linguistics play in the design of inclusive technologies?
- How do we translate academic work for impact without losing nuance?
